

Lau, 27/08/2011 - 07:09

"In the past 30 years, the "masters of mankind," as Smith called them, have abandoned any sentimental concern for the welfare of their own society, concentrating instead on short-term gain and huge bonuses, the country be damned -- as long as the powerful nanny state remains intact to serve their interests." -

Noam Chomsky

Source URL: <http://www.attac.is/node/332>